

Dr. Sir Clifford N. Alford, Th.D, DD, MH began his training in Cherokee Medicine and Shamanism at the age of five years old when his grandmother, a Texas Cherokee Medicine Woman, heard the call of the Spirits on his life, and began teaching him. He studied with her for fourteen years, and has continued to study a variety of traditions world-wide.

As he was taught to do by his Elders, and by many of the other shamanic traditions he has studied, Sir Clifford works nude because of the power and clarity of vision that it brings. When working with him, you are encouraged to either be nude as well, or to wear natural fabrics. Apprentices are required to work nude after the first training session.

For those people who cannot overcome their issues with the human body, most of the services offered by Sir Clifford can be done from a distance as there is no such construct as either time or distance in the spirit world.
